Australia, Last Stand of White Race

Our generation since early childhood has read fanciful fiction about Australia, a continent the size of the United States held by a mere handful of white men — and what might happen if the Yellow Peril ever surged southward. But yesterday's fiction is today's fact.

Violence Is Suspected in Negro's Death

Dewey Lacefield Burns to Death in Fire at His Home

Suspecting violence, city and county police continued to investigate the death of Dewey Lacefield, 35-year-old Negro, who burned to death at his home in the Oaklawn addition to the city early Thursday morning.

The fire occurred about 1:30 a. m., and the house was almost burned to the ground when the fire department was called, it was said.

Investigating police said there was a possibility of violence because Lacefield's body was found in a room which did not contain a bed. However no arrests have been made.

Dr. J. H. Weaver, Hempstead coroner, examined the body but withheld his verdict pending further investigation. Death, however, resulted from burns, he indicated.

Lacefield was employed at the Brun-Ivory Hamile company.

Origin of the fire was not determined as the house was completely burned. Fire Chief James Embree said the death was the first resulting inside a burning house in at least 17 years. In fact the Department has no record of such a death.

About 10,000 persons burn in house fires in the United States each year.

Blevins Senior Play April 10

Ralph Todd, Boyce Nolen, and Betty Jo Spears, the stage hits of "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town" are now starred with David Edwards, Winnie Warren and Jerry Poole in "What Wright Left." This laugh hit is to be presented by the senior class in Blevins High School April 10.

Ralph Todd as Wright Harold receives the most ludicrous inheritance that any chap ever fell heir to. In his attempt to settle the estate and marry Jerry Poole, he passes through a series of amusing and unexpected events.

David Edwards as Harold Winslow, the natural born fixer, gives you more laughs than ever in his attempts to right the wrong.

Boyce Nolen and Betty Jo Spears as the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Keefer, find that a bombshell has exploded when Ola Mae Sewell, the bride's mother, unexpectedly arrives. During this confusion, Jerry Poole as Rosalie Marrow arrives to find her fiancee, Wright Harold, missing.

Glamorous Winnie Warren as Trixie Leslie, a movie star arrives on the scene to claim Harold Winslow, who is in the midst of attending to the affairs of others. He finds that he must take time out to fix his own affairs which are very mixed.

Oletha Brackbill as the dumb maid, Reba Leverett as the secretary, Eloise Brooks as the inquisitive neighbor, and James Hood as the car salesman do their part in producing the greatest laugh hit of the season in "What Wright Left."

See Betty Jo Spears as a heartbroken bride, catch a case of giggles when David Edwards becomes publicity manager for White Waymen and Boyce Nolen and feel your heart go bounding as Ralph Todd and Jerry Poole bring you the tenderest love scenes of the season in "What Wright Left."

Hitler Recalls Generals for Spring Thrust

Russians, However, Continue Bloody Counter Attacks on Nazis

By the Associated Press

The Japanese have driven southward without interruption for 5,000 miles, and now are hammering at the northern defenses of the Anzac continent. Douglas MacArthur, No. 1 American hero, has been invited by the Australians to be their commanding general—a happy combination, a military genius leading some of the best fighting men the world has ever known.

And America is pouring men and supplies into Australia to back MacArthur's play. God help the politicians back in Washington if they let him down . . .

How desperate is Australia's plight only the figures of area and population can tell. For Australia is a land of 3 million square miles—the same as the continental United States—but with a population of only 7 millions, against the U. S.'s 131 millions.

Compared with Arkansas, Australia has 56 more times the area to defend, but with only 3½ times the population to defend it. . . . It is much as if Arkansans were suddenly called upon to defend herself against attack by the combined forces of the rest of the United States.

With this exception—the Japanese are now strong out 5,000 miles from home, and their striking power is so greatly reduced that with mechanized help, particularly air power, the Australians have a good chance of saving their country as the last outpost of the white man in the Orient.

And for us, the Australian adventure is given our full support because it is from the Land Down Under that tomorrow's defensive against the Japanese empire must be launched.

By WILLIS THORNTON

Point of View

This column is turned over today to Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, Jr., commander of the second army of the United States of America. The other day in Cleveland, General Lear spoke some truths every American should hear . . .

About criticizing our allies:

"Let us be thankful that the great bastion, the United Kingdom, has stood. Let us be thankful for those magnificent Russian armies that refused to acknowledge defeat and came back fighting in a campaign that has the admiration of every soldier. Let us be thankful for the tenacity and endurance of the Chinese."

"Criticism of our allies in their hours of trial is not only destructive of a sense of proportion and appreciation of their great losses, but it leads to the question: Who wants us to suspect and criticize our allies? Who wants to prepare us by suspicion and hatred so that we will lose the peace after we have paid the awful price that will be exacted from the war?"

"Let us be loyal. Let us be worthy of others being loyal to us."

About labor disputes:

"I do not appreciate—nor does any soldier—the remarks we sometimes read when there is a strike: 'Make them work or fight!' I don't want to discuss strikes. But I do want to say this on behalf of the soldiers: The individual who is unwilling to work we don't want picked up and sent to us to join combat troops. He isn't good enough. We don't want his spirit. And we don't want his presence . . .

"No, if you want to discipline and make useful those that have refused to work faithfully with the team, let labor battalions be formed for them. Let such men be given the job of building the highway to Alaska, in Greenland. Draft them, yes; but our society of men being trained to fight and die for this republic is not a reform school. Just as we accept none but the physically fit, so we want none but the morally worthy."

About civilians' roles:

"Your effective organization, that involves the complete civilian effort, is what will do more than any amount of cheering, entertaining and gift giving to give confidence to the soldier that the great American team is functioning. When this soldier sees that waste, is following a plan of conservation, is definitely contributing more than money to the war effort, then he will have greater pride and confidence in the unity of our war effort."

About winning the war:

"Your sons are being made into fighters. Their instruction may be varied and requires professional skill, but their mission is simple—to destroy the enemy, on land, on the seas and in the air."

Fighters will win.

"Their families at home, their neighbors around the corner, their team-workers in the factories and on the farms, they too, belong grimly, determinedly, unselfishly, in the ranks of the regular army."

Hope to Play 11 Grid Games

Hot Springs, Camden Added to 1942 Schedule

By the Associated Press

Climaxing three months of bloody retreat Adolf Hitler has abandoned his lone wolf role in guiding the destiny in German's arms it was reported Thursday and has called back his generals to help plan the Nazi spring offensive.

Berlin correspondent of the Basel (Switzerland) national Zeitung said

Hitler had summoned nearly all the German officers including field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch who was ousted or resigned after the drive against Moscow failed last December.

The national Zeitung correspondent said the Nazis spring offensive might be expected soon with the Fuehrer and his generals now mapping strategy at a series of staff conferences.

The question of throwing Russia's winter steam roller into reverse still remained to be solved and Thursday the German command's communiqué acknowledged that the Red armies were attacking relentlessly and that heavy defensive fighting is now in progress.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters noted continuing Russian pressure on the Kerch Peninsula in the Crimea as well as fierce Soviet thrusts in the Donets river sector of the Ukraine where the Russians are battering at the gates of Kharkov.

In the north a Soviet dispatch reported that Russian guerrilla forces had regained control of 6,000 square miles of territory behind the German siege lines around Leningrad and declared they were so strong that the Germans could not enter the region.

Although not identified the section may be a part of the Baltic state of Estonia which the Germans overran in their drive against Leningrad.

Russia appeals for the opening of a second front against the Germans were renewed Thursday in the Moscow news, now published in Kuybyshev, with the declaration that anti-Hitler forces can and must determine the future progress of the war.

From secret continental bases the German freedom radio said German troops and laborers were strengthening Netherland defenses and these preparations show Hitler expects landing by British and American troops.

Neither London or Washington indicated that any major thrust toward Germany was in prospect immediately.

Establishment of a U. S. aerial base in Guatemala was disclosed in a dispatch from the capital of that central American republic, supplementing Panama Canal defense bombers laden with high explosives which range ceaselessly over the Pacific and Caribbean.

This should encourage all cotton

The cotton farmer will be well paid this year if he responds to Uncle Sam's call for increased staple lengths and better grades, according to E. N. Martindale, chairman of the Hempstead County Triple-A committee.

The Department of Agriculture is offering special premiums for increases in both grade and staple. An index of how the new price premiums will operate can be seen by comparing the value of two bales of strict middling, one of 1-1/16-inch and the other 1-3/16. The latter bale will be worth $39 more on loan than the bale of shorter staple. But if the bale of 1-3/16 staple is only of strict low middling quality, it will be worth only $17 more than the bale of 1-1/16 strict middling.

UNKNOWN ENEMIES CHAPTER XXXII

DR. NOLAN leaned back in the creaking swivel chair and knocked the ashes from his pipe.

"I'm firing you for six months, Dr. Mitchell. Don't argue. You're too useful around here to take chances with."

"You mean I was."

"Are. You take things too hard. You've let this Benny Singer thing flatten you out."

"I think I'll go to Europe, sir. Zurich."

"More work? Well, if that's what you want. Right away?"

"Yes."

"Free as that?" Dr. Nolan smiled, but he looked gravely after Parris as the door closed. He had been struck from the beginning by the peculiar solitariness of this hard-working young man.

Parris decided he'd look up Anne in Dusseldorf. Maybe Herr Berdorff in Bavaria. He could do exactly as he pleased because it didn't make any difference to anyone.

Tonight the asylum sounds, sudden screams and shouts that thrust through the murmurous buildings, flicked his nerves like a lash. He walked slowly down to see Drake and Randy.

Drake had a lapboard across the bed and the wide table beside it was covered with papers.

"Business this time of night?"

"We're starting a building and loan association, Parris," Randy was excited. "We're putting you in as silent partner. You don't have to do anything, but we want it fixed up properly—legally."

"Still talking about that Tower money?"

"Please, Parris—" Randy's expression was intent. Her eyes were telling him that he must consent, that this was final compensation, to Drake, for the money Parris had given them.

"All right. Fix it any way you want to. I don't know the first thing about business of any kind."

He told them that Dr. Nolan had insisted on a vacation.

"Are you going to be away long?" Drake's voice came hesitatingly.

"Dr. Nolan says six months."

"Gee, I'm glad for you."

Parris looked curiously at Drake, and then at Randy. He wanted very much to know if it mattered to them whether he went or stayed.

Back at the hospital gate, he circled the grounds and came out on Carrier street. In the second story room of a house at the end of the block there was a bright light. Vera Lichinsky sat at the window, her arms resting on the sash. Moonlight fell full on her face and whitened it to a stony pallor. She was staring fixedly at the huge building facing her—the gloomy building that seemed even to Paris to crouch among the tall trees, and to wait. *

PARRIS returned just in time to meet an early, disagreeable winter. The town was drab and shabby-looking. He shuddered with distaste as he viewed it.

His work at the hospital was waiting, the entire staff rejoicing over the state's appropriation for extensive new buildings. A huge tract of land had been bought for a farm and vegetable garden. Dr. Nolan was full of plans.

He was dressing one evening when his Negro houseboy came in and laid a copy of The Evening Chronicle on the table. Parris glanced at it and saw a heavy, black headline—Asylum Doctor Makes Fortune Out of Asylum Deal.

The second headline, scarcely smaller than the first, said, It Pays to Be on the Inside.

"Dr. Parris Mitchell, staff physician at the State Hospital for the Insane, and the silent partner of Drake McHugh, real estate dealer, realized a cool one hundred thousand dollars on the purchase of the old St. George tract recently acquired by the state for the improvement of hospital facilities. It appears that this plan for expansion of the hospital has been afoot for some time."

"Mr. Fulmer Green, elected this past November to the legislature, has promised that an investigation will be made."

Parris laid the paper before Dr. Nolan. "Have you seen this, sir?"

"Yes, I have."

"There's no truth in this, Dr. Nolan. I mean—if Drake McHugh put this through it was entirely without my knowledge."

Parris related in detail the story of his friendship with Drake, the gift or loan of the Tower money, the slow rehabilitation of Drake through being made to feel important and successful, and then the conversation with Drake and Randy just before Parris left for Europe.

"I signed some sort of papers, power of attorney among them. I had never heard of the proposed purchase of this land before I left, and I know that they, I suppose,

Prescott Garden Club Meets Tuesday

An enthusiastic meeting of the Prescott Garden Club was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sam O. Logan. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Dolph Brewer, Mrs. Gus McCaskill and Mrs. J. B. Hesterly.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. J. Vernon Fore, the Civic Committee reported having had the shrubs pruned in the park which the club sponsors.

The proposed State Constitution was read and adopted. It was unanimously voted to have a silver tea in April, proceeds to be sent to the Committee on beautification of the area around the Recreation building, at Station Hospital, Camp Robinson: Following the club's annual custom it was voted to give the usual prizes for the Bird House Contest at the Primary School. Better Homes Week, April 26 to May 2, was discussed and it was decided that the club would sponsor this work in Prescott.

"Facts and Fun in the Garden" was the general topic of the afternoon's program. Mrs. N. B. Nelson, program leader, talked on "Intelligence of Plants." She introduced Mrs. Watson White, Jr., whose subject was "Gardening for Morale" and Mrs. Paul Jones who told us how to express individuality in our own gardens.

The flower arrangement consisted of specimen juncos, accented with blooming shrubs, and the travel vase was awarded to Mrs. J. Vernon Fore, for an arrangement of narcissi, blue hyacinths and peach blossoms. The hostesses served coffee and crushed strawberries on Angel Food cake.

Society

Among the Prescott people attending the races in Hot Springs Wednesday cases are practically unknown, and that enormous losses are caused by smuts of wheat, oats, and barley.

When disease-free seed or disease-resistant varieties are not obtainable, the county agent recommended seed treatment as the simplest and cheapest method of controlling these diseases.

Costs for treating cotton seed are around 10 cents a bushel, varying somewhat with the amount of seed to be treated. Cereal treatments cost about 2 to 3 cents per bushel.

Treating equipment can be built on the farm using an old oil barrel.

For treating cotton seed, the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture recommends ethyl mercury chloride dust, known as "2 per cent Ceresan." Ethyl mercury phosphate dust, known as "New Improved Ceresan," is slightly cheaper, but is recommended only for large scale treaters who are equipped with dust-catching apparatus. New Improved Ceresan is also used for treating wheat, oats, barley and sorghum.

The Bay View Reading club met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth L. Spore Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Edwin Ward as co-hostess. Spring flowers in artistic arrangements adorned the rooms. Jonquils and hyacinths predominated in the floral decor which carried out the green and white color scheme.

Mrs. Gus Haynes, the president, presided and Mrs. Edwin Ward, recording secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Roll-call response brought out some particularly interesting and informative facts.

The leader for the afternoon, Mrs. Hugh Jones announced her subject, "Education," and after introductory remarks presented Mrs. S. B. Miss Mamie Twitell presented "It is More Fun to be Fit," an article by Gene Tunney, and made practical applications. Mrs. Jones discussed "The Kitchen Front in England," a graphic detailed advice by the ministry of food on how to eke out slender rations.

At the conclusion of the program the hostesses served a delightful dessert course which carried out the HOLLYWOOD — Bob Crosby looks only a little like Brother Bing, doesn't sing as he does, never was coached or aided by him. But now it's apparent that the Brothers Crosby are much alike in one way—they share an amazing talent for Midas-like showmanship.

Here is Bob, now, leading his band at a local dance palace, working on a big radio program, turning out phonograph records in spare moments, and listening politely to the rising bids of the movie studios. If anybody mentions $40,000 per picture for the band, he may assent; otherwise they will hit the road again and resume their gravy-grabbing at the big-one-night stands.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. A. K. Holloway Tuesday afternoon, members of the Gardenia Garden club heard a program on "Gourds" presented by Mrs. Frank Ward.

For the meeting the home was beautifully decorated with gay bouquets of spring flowers. Also adding to the setting were unusually attractive displays in gourd containers brought by the members. Mrs. R. D. Franklin's display was judged the best.

After her program, Mrs. Ward gave each member a package of gourd seeds as favors.

A delicious desert course was served during the afternoon to 15 members and 1 guest.

Booby Traps, Boom Biscuits
Deadlier Than Anything a Bride Ever Whipped UpWide World Features
"Boom Biscuits" deadlier than anything an absentminded bride ever whipped up on her first try are the newest defense against tank attacks. Boom biscuits are anti-tank mines, erroneously called land mines.

Anti-tank mines are biscuit-shaped. They're spread thickly—the thicker the better—in the path of a threatened tank advance. The weight of an armored vehicle sets them off.

The Germans are using a large mine, intended to destroy the tank and kill its crew. The U. S. and other nations favor a smaller "biscuit," designed to break tank treads and stop it, so it's a pot-shot for anti-tank gunners.

Advantage of the smaller mine is that more can be carried by field transport facilities, and threatened areas can be more thickly "planted."

Engineers go to great lengths to conceal their mines. Freshly dug earth is left where there are no mines. If a tank jockey takes the bait and drives over apparently undisturbed ground nearby, it's booms-a-daisy and wire folks.

The mines can't be set off by a soldier walking over them. The engineers explained there's no use waisting that much powder to get a man. They have deadly little practical jokes—the exploding cigar is their grand-pappy—that they use against troops. They're officially tagged as personal mines—soldiers know them as booby traps. Tins of food, souvenirs, pump handles, light switches, drawers, loose boards, in fact anything the unwary soldier might pick up or touch may set them off.

What are properly called land mines were often used in the last war. They were tons of explosive placed at the end of tunnels dug under enemy positions by sappers. (Explosive charges set off by engineers to destroy roads and bridges are also called land mines.)

Greece Fights On

Sometimes the enemy sappers outsmarted the original diggers and dug a second tunnel under the first one, and set off their explosives first. The tunnel technique hasn't been used in this war. In these days of highly mobile troops, ground units don't hold still long enough.

Capital Hard on New Comers Many Workers Leave Because of the Confusion

WASHINGTON—The Capital in wartime: Much has been written about the hordes of new federal workers coming to Washington, but as paradoxical as it may seem, one of the government's minor headaches comes from those handfuls who are constantly leaving. These are the girls and boys who are brought here from states, find the confusion, the overcrowding, the poor housing conditions, the high cost of living, and perhaps above all, the loneliness, too much for them and pack up and hit for home.

The point is that the departure nearly always occurs after a few months, just when the new employee has been effectively "broken in" and is able to perform his new job efficiently. Every employer knows the expense, confusion and loss of efficiency in his business resulting from employee turnover. In the case of the government, the expense alone runs into many thousands of dollars a month.

This is one of the reasons why the government maintains a vast recreational program, with athletics indoors and out, dances and dramatics all sponsored by the departmental recreational units. It is one reason why the government is now spending money to aid new workers in getting suitable housing accommodations. And it is one of the chief reasons why federal officials have never minimized the discomforts and difficulties of working and living in wartime Washington.

That is why, too, that in spite of the paper saving campaign, the recreation service of the metropolitan defense area is coming out with a new government employee magazine, "The Federal Communicator," designed to inform workers of ways and means of making their lives in the wartime capital a little less onerous. The magazine won't be free and no effort will be made to sell it at cost—but all profits will go into the employees' recreational fund.

Congressman Joshua L. Johns, of Wisconsin, wrapped it up in a nutshell the other day, when he told House colleagues and the galleries: "For this fiscal year up to March 4, we have been spending an average of $39,000,000 a day, and of that amount we have been running in the red $46,000,000."

When Washington has its next test blackout, every one of the government's 391 buildings here will go dark, too. There will be no more of that business of having some public buildings even floodlighted from outside while the private population gropes through darkness.

The size of the blackout job may be guessed from the estimate of public buildings officials that it will cost $1,000,000 to make it total. This amount won't be spent, however, in the coming test. Only where night shifts are working, will blackout frames be installed over windows and doors. In others, the lights will simply be turned out.

Hempstead 4-H Club Make Strides Toward 1942 Goals

Wartime Conditions Creates Problems Which Organization Tries to Meet

Through the cooperation of volunteer local leaders the 15 4-H clubs in Hempstead County are making rapid progress in achieving the goals outlined by the 4-H club council at a recent county meeting of officers and leaders from the different community organizations.

War time conditions have created new problems which challenge the best efforts of all farm people. 4-H Club organizations in Hempstead County have accepted many responsibilities which will necessitate working long hours, intelligent planning and application of the most efficient production practices known to scientific Agriculture. The foundation on which 4-H Clubs are built provides for the establishment of food and feed production projects that make use of the practices known to be best adapted to each individual club members situation.

As a part of a nation at war and confronted with a shortage of certain essential foods evident long before the United States was actually engaged in a World conflict, 4-H clubs in Hempstead County geared its production program in accordance with the recommendations included in the "Food-for-Victory" Campaign which is making a contribution to the war effort no less important than the industries charged with the production of guns, planes and tanks. Maximum production of essential foods has assumed first place of importance in the 4-H Club program. In planning 4-H Club activities first consideration has been given the general educational work in Agriculture and home economics essential to the success of our war time job.

County and community planning for an agriculture and home program which meets the particular problem and needs of farm people is not a new thing for 4-H Club members in Hempstead County. Representatives from different community clubs, farm organizations, Government Agencies and home demonstration clubs have long been accustomed to meet once or twice each year to talk over county and community problems and to make recommendations and resolutions aimed to solve some of these problems.

These meetings proved very valuable, perhaps most valuable to the planners themselves.

Since the "Food-for-Victory" Campaign was launched an effort has been

Notes From the County Agent

W. B. Jones, Agricultural Planning Committee man of the Hinton neighborhood, who plants around 15 acres to hairy vetch each year refused to conduct a demonstration using concentrated phosphate fertilizer supplied for application to one-half acre of the vetch, could not be produced profitably without phosphate and that he could not take the chance on getting no results from half of his acreage.

G. W. Boozer in the deep sand area east of Binger says that 20 pounds hairy vetch per acre is to a better stand and growth than 30 pounds Willamette vetch to date on his farm. On gravelly loam soil on the Mrs. H. H. Huskey farm southeast of Sweet home the Willamette vetch is considerably more growth to date than the hairy vetch. This is the first year for Willamette vetch, in Hempstead county reports from farmers not contracted will be of value.

Fertilizer prices can go no higher than they were during the period between February 16 and February 21, 1942, according to the recent price order set by OPA. The order is effective for 60 days, beginning February 27. Prices lower than the maximum established by the OPA may be changed. These ceilings do not apply on nitrate of soda, sulfate of ammonia, or cyanamid. Supplies of mixed goods are expected to be sufficient to meet the demands. Grades high in nitrogen may not be available. Farmers should determine their fertilizer needs and move them to the farm where possible.

S. E. Lee south of Marlbrook has the groliest field of hairy vetch observed to date this year. The seeding was made in early October and was treated with 100 pounds super phosphate per acre.

Now Is Time to Prepare Seed Beds and Plant

Soils for Peanuts Should Be Broken From 6 to 8 Inches Deep

Seedbed preparation and time of planting are two important factors to be considered in the production of large yields of peanuts, since both have a very definite influence on yields and a good stand is necessary if high yields are obtained, reports Oliver L. Adams, county agent.

Soils for peanuts should be thoroughly broken, 6 to 8 inches deep, and harrowed a sufficient number of times to obtain a smooth, well-prepared seedbed, with a little surface vegetation as possible, he said. Good seedbed preparation also results in fewer weeds, and weed control is essential to good yields. Destruction of weeds during seedbed preparation will result in decreasing the expense of weeding later on.

Starting the seedbed preparation by breaking the land 4 to 6 weeks before the peanuts are planted, followed by harrowing and disk ing frequently before planting, will destroy weeds

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Most easy kidney troubles contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to filter the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent night awakenings can be a real problem sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They supply relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes to cleanse waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

find you should flatten out cartons, tie them in neat bundles and pack them in a place where they'll keep dry and clean. Newspapers should be separate from other paper. That means separate containers for different kinds of paper. But it's wise to ask local authorities for information.

Cans are collected if bottom and top are removed, the cans washed and flattened and all packed together in a box.

The government recommends saving wrapping paper, cardboard cartons, boxes, paper bags, newspapers and magazines to make new paper board to pack foods, airplane parts, tank parts, shells and ammunition.

Rags, including cast-off clothing, burlap bags, draperies, mattresses, pillows and discarded carpets may be saved for possible re-use as wipling rags in factories and for roofing and rags in emergency construction.

Metallic like discarded tools, beds, stoves, railings, tire chains, pots and pans, picture frames, hangers, toothpaste containers, pipe and hardware also are on the salvage list.

But the government warning is: Do not discard anything that is still useful and that might have to be replaced.

Discontented Cows

CAMERON, Me.—(AP)—A Cameron merchant jokingly tells about the new sign he has on the side of his building. A farmer three miles away has complained the sign is so bright it distracts two of his cows.

You can't burn yourself with dry ice. The sensation is that of burning, but actually it is a quick-freezing process that takes place when dry ice touches your skin.

An enjoyable feature in the revival meeting participated in by all is the great congregational singing led by the Rev. S. A. Mays, Tabernacle song director, and the special singing and music rendered by Rev. and Mrs. Campbell, Rev. and Mrs. Mays, the Men's Quartet, Ladies Chorus, Mrs. J. E. Hamill, and others.

Services are held nightly, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. There will be no service on Saturday night.

Unit schools will be established for the necessary basic training of the "officers" who in combat would, if necessary, assume the tasks of regularly commissioned officers.

Another large crowd heard the evangelist Wednesday night preach on the "Crimson Road." His subject for Thursday night is "What Men See in Hell."

When "acting officers" take over in combat training they will be designated by a blue brassard.
